While Diann Lalande cuts his hair, William Panter, 10, looks at one of the braids that he's donating to be made into a wig for a cancer patient. After the haircut he said he hoped some of the kids who made fun of him regretted it.

Extraordinary haircut for extraordinary kid

On a mission. 10-year-old stays strong despite bullying, grows his hair so a cancer patient can have a wig

JESSICA SMITH
jessica.smith@metronews.ca

Snip, snip and it's gone.

"Now that I got rid of my hair, there's no way they can make fun of me," said 10-year-old William Panter while getting about eight inches of hair cut off on Thursday.

He grew his hair for about 18 months, putting up with teasing and name-calling, until it was long enough to make a wig for someone with cancer.

His grandmother died from the disease in March 2011. Her death was very hard on him, but he realized he could do something to help someone.

The hair, cut at Diann's Hair Salon in Orleans, which often does Cuts for Cancer fundraisers, will go to the Ottawa Regional Cancer Foundation.

His dad, Nik Panter, said the past year and a half of hair growing hasn't been easy on his son.

"I've got a 10-year-old who's been openly called a f-g and gay," he said.

Kids of all ages called William those names because his hair was different, said Panter. William, an intelligent kid who grew up in a tolerant household, knows what those words mean but struggled to understand why they were supposed hurt him.

An adult soccer coach, old enough to know better, would repeatedly refer to William as a girl, despite being fully aware he isn't, said Panter.

"It's not too hard to figure out how a lot of these kids know how to call other people names," said Panter.

One of the names he got at school was "brownielocks," William said.

"I was at a new school and the main bully kept making fun of me," he said. That bully and some of the other students didn't know he was growing his hair for a good cause, but now he hopes they'll regret what they said.

APTN giving aboriginal youth a shot at junior hockey

Reality TV. Hit the Ice will follow 20 aboriginal players in an NHL-style training camp for 13 episodes

JOE LOFARO
joe.lofaro@metronews.ca

Twenty aboriginal youth from across Canada are going to hit television screens this winter in a new hockey-themed reality series that will be filmed in Ottawa-Gatineau this summer.

In Hit the Ice, players will go through an NHL-style training camp and get tips from hockey professionals. At the end of the show, they'll play an exhibition game with the chance of getting noticed by real hockey scouts from the Quebec Major Junior Hockey League, the Ontario Hockey League and others.

Producers hired ex-NHLer John Chabot of Montreal Canadiens and Pittsburgh Penguins fame to guide the hockey hopefuls.

Chabot said most participants have been playing all their lives but never had a chance to be seen.

"If we can introduce these kids to scouts, that's what we want to do," he said Thursday at a press conference at the Chateau Cartier Hotel in Gatineau.

Director and producer, Jason Brennan, said viewers will have to wait and see if scouts decide to put the players in a league.

The 13-episode Aboriginal Peoples Television Network (APTN) production is to air in January.

Filming will run from July 22 to Aug. 5 in various spots across the region.

Affordable pads harder to find: Students

It took four months of looking to find an affordable apartment, said Shintelle Rayside, centre, surrounded by friends Ben Gronfors and Kelsey Hunt. GRAHAM LANKTREE/METRO

Finding an affordable apartment in Ottawa is getting harder, say some local students — and a new report by the Federation of Canadian Municipalities backs them up.

"I would love to live on campus, but it's too expensive," said Amang Hangsawk, who spent two months looking for an affordable apartment with her sister. "Finally I was able to find a one-bedroom for $800."

Released Wednesday, the report No Vacancy: Trends in Rental Housing in Canada notes Ottawa's vacancy rate hovers at 1.8 per cent.

"There's not much rental being built in Ontario overall, but there's even less in Ottawa," said Michel Frojmovic, director of Acacia Consulting, which compiled data for the report. "When vacancy rates are low, that drives up the price."

Average rents in the city for smaller spaces have been steadily increasing since 2003, he said. In 2010 the average rent for a two-bedroom was more than $1,000. In 2003 that number stood at $923.

"It's very expensive downtown and you have to go far from school to find something cheap," said Shintelle Rayside, of the apartment hunt she started with three friends in January, before settling in Vanier.

The trend also affects seniors and low-income households, said Frojmovic, who said some people are forced to skimp on food to pay for rent. GRAHAM LANKTREE/METRO

Affordable solutions

What can be done to make rent more affordable? Frojmovic said the feds and the city can do three things:

- Give loans to affordable-apartment developers.
- Forbid demolition of affordable housing or create tax incentives to preserve such housing.
- Develop a tax credit to improve the quality of rental housing.

Looming: Monday deadline to rid computers of DNSChanger virus

Is your computer infected? Temporary servers allowing malware victims to operate as normal are being shut down

If your Internet connection suddenly stops working at 12:01 a.m. Monday, there's a good chance you've got a nasty piece of malware called DNSChanger — and you're not alone.

In November 2011, the FBI and various partners, among which were Canadian agencies, shut down a network of Domain Name System (DNS) servers allegedly controlled by cybercriminals in Estonia, who circulated a virus that infected millions of computers and netted them millions of dollars in illicit advertising revenue.

The malware didn't go away when the perpetrators were arrested, so the Canadian Internet Registration Authority (CIRA) built a temporary solution using safe servers that allowed computers with the virus to operate as normal — until Monday.

On Monday, those servers are scheduled to be shut down, and despite efforts by CIRA, governments and service providers to eradicate the virus, CIRA estimates tens of thousands of computers in North America are still infected.

As of 12:01 a.m. Monday, those computers won't be able to go online until the virus is removed.

While many private computers may have the virus, City of Ottawa systems and federal government computers will not be affected, according to officials with Public Safety Canada and the city.

6 Estonian cyber criminals allegedly create the DNSchanger malware. It uses DNS servers to redirect millions of users to fake websites netting the criminals millions in illict advertising money.
2011
Following a tip from NASA, the FBI launches Operation Ghost Click and arrests the suspects.
2011
The malware lives on, but the non-profit Internet Systems Consortium creates "clean" DNS servers that do no harm to infected users, some of whom remain unaware they still have the malware on their computers.
RIGHT NOW
If you get a red screen, your computer is infected and you will not be able to go online after 12:01 a.m., July 9. Get the malware removed.
If you get a green screen, you do not have the malware. You're good to go browse the Internet!
Check your computer at dns-ok.ca

Worried? Just go to dns-ok.ca and follow the simple steps to see if your computer is infected. If it is, instructions on removing the virus can be found at publicsafety.gc.ca. From there search "DNS" and follow the link. WITH FILES FROM TOR-

The fire at 1945 Fairmeadow Cr. started in the garage. While the cause is still undetermined, investigators suspect the blaze may have started spontaneously due to defective charcoal briquettes. NOURAN ABDELLATIF/FOR METRO

Fire dept. has lead in Alta Vista blaze

Wet briquettes?

Fire that destroyed a couple's garage may have been started by contaminated charcoal

NOURAN ABDELLATIF
ottawa@metronews.ca

The garage was destroyed, the car melted and the kitchen needs to be redone — and it may all be due to a package of charcoal briquettes.

Two retirees forced from their Fairmeadow Crescent home by a June 15 fire are "traumatized and upset," according to their daughter, Irene Mavroyannis, who says investigators told her defective charcoal briquettes could have been a factor in the blaze.

"I'm glad it happened during the day. If it had happened during the night it would have been a problem," said Mavroyannis, who had been visiting her parents when the fire broke out.

Her parents had stocked up for the barbecue season, keeping 10 bags in the garage.

Ottawa Fire public information officer Marc Messier said the cause of the fire is undetermined, but the bags of charcoal briquettes were in the corner of the garage where the fire started, so it's possible they played a role.

Charcoal contaminated by water or flammable liquids can actually start a fire spontaneously, said Messier.

"We get the odd one," he said. Wet charcoal releases heat as it dries and the liberated heat speeds up the combustion, he said.

Safety tips

- Keep charcoal in a cool, dry area, away from direct sunlight or any heat sources.
- Keep bags of charcoal outdoors, preferably in an area away from your house.
- Wet briquettes should be placed in a metal container and disposed of.

Mom, son plead guilty to incest

A 53-year-old woman and her 35-year-old son pleaded guilty to incest in an Ottawa court Thursday.

The two were seen having intercourse by a family member — the woman's daughter and man's older sister — in May 2010, according to Crown lawyer Caroline Thibault.

The family member was visiting her terminally ill father in the ByWard Market when she stepped onto a balcony to have a cigarette, looked into a bedroom window and saw her mother and brother having sex.

Disgusted, the woman banged on the window and the brother looked up with an expression of shock and embarrassment, Thibault told the court.

The mother received a suspended sentence of 24 months probation and the son received a suspended sentence of 12 months.

The names of the accused are covered by a publication ban to protect their family.

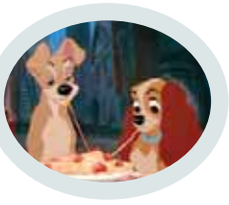
Pecking order

In honour of International Kissing Day, we plant six of the most sensuously significant lip smacks to grace the big screen—and all the juicy collateral cooties that go along with them — on you. MIKE DOJC For Metro

Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs (1937): You really can't get more romantic than the spell-breaking power of love's first kiss. Throw in Doc, Grumpy, Happy, Sleepy, Bashful, Sneezy, and Dopey, plus a Noah's Ark's worth of cuddly woodland creatures looking all weepy-eyed before the prince's peck, and the anticipation is bases-loaded heart-thumping. Then Snow White awakens from her poisoned-apple coma and the crowd goes crazy as the heroine and her hero ride off into the sunset.



Lady and the Tramp (1955): After they each slurp down a strand from a shared plate of spaghetti, the restaurateur enhances the mood by serenading the star-crossed pooches with Bella Notte on his accordion. While lost in the melody, they find themselves munching on opposite ends of a long noodle. The brief snout-on-snout action is cut short by Lady's shyness, but then Tramp nuzzles a meatball toward her and puppy love twinkles in both their eyes.

Planet of the Apes (1968): "Doctor, I'd Like to kiss you goodbye," Taylor says. "All right ... but you're so damned ugly," replies Zira before allowing Charlton Heston to peck her on the lips. It's the last sweet interspecies moment in the sci-fi classic before the famous "damn you all to hell" denouement, when the astronaut sees the remnants of the Statue of Liberty while riding along the shoreline and comes to the stunning realization that he's not on an alien planet after all, but on a post-apocalyptic Earth.

Ghost (1990): The steamy potter's-wheel scene, with Patrick Swayze placing his hands over Demi Moore's clay-covered fingers and nibbling on her neck, while the Righteous Brothers' Unchained Melody plays in the background, jump-started a glaze craze that is still with us over 20 years later. The scene has been paid homage to and parodied ad nauseum, most recently in an episode of NBC's Community, where a pottery teacher adopts a zero-Ghost-tolerance policy of both "ironic" and "sincere" re-enactments.

Spider-Man (2002): "You have a knack for saving my life. I think I have a superhero stalker," a rain-soaked Mary-Jane (Kirsten Dunst) teases before pulling away half of Spider-Man's (Tobey Maguire) mask to access his lips. The ensuing dangling, upside-down smooch inspired thousands of couples to try the move out on jungle gyms and other inversion apparatuses. Home-gamers recreating the tender Spidey moment, here's a tip: The horizontal version is a lot safer.

Twilight (2008): "Just stay very still ... don't move," Edward warns while leaning in. A breathy makeout session is always more exciting when there's a chance a vampire's hormones will go out of control and the affair will turn into a bloodletting. The chaste passion between Bella and her sensitive bloodsucker boyfriend (they wait four movies and until marriage before going all the way) stirred up an uproar in some circles with debates raging about whether they should condone or condemn the fictional relationship.

Nothing wrong with a little affection

Survey. Most Canadians unfazed by PDA

LIA GRAINGER
ottawa@metronews.ca

Are you a fan of the PDA? Friday is International Kissing Day, and a new survey from the matchmaking website Zoosk.com has found the vast majority of Canadians have no problems puckering up in public.

Of the more than 1,163 Canadians surveyed, a whopping 93 per cent confessed they were fine with public displays of affection. Women are ever-so-slightly more modest than their male counterparts: 51 per cent of the ladies who responded said that public kissing in moderation is fine, while 61 per cent of the fellas said anything goes.

"The high numbers of people that are OK with PDA is indicative of our easygoing tolerance and acceptance — qualities that are consummately Canadian," says Toronto etiquette expert Karen Cleveland. She says that attitudes towards kissing in public have softened over the years, but is quick to warn there is still such a thing as going too far.

"A good rule of thumb is to avoid doing anything you'd be embarrassed to do in front of your grandparents," says Cleveland. "That means no groping and no tongue."

Dating consultant Shannon Tebb says location matters. "If you're on a subway car or in a doctor's office — anywhere confined with other people — it's probably best to avoid big displays," says Tebb. "If you're on the street, it's more acceptable."

If you've decided to go for the public smooch, why not make your partner happy? According to Zoosk.com, most Canadian men prefer sensual kisses on the lips, while the majority of women like the so-called French kiss.

Those with female partners should be extra observant, as most women said being with a good kisser is important. But men were less concerned because their partners "may be better at other things." We'll let you ponder that one for yourselves.

The history of the kiss

- Prehistoric times. Couples kiss to taste saliva and find a suitable mate.
- 1500 BC. Vedic Sanskrit texts from India reference "drinking moisture of the lips."
- 300 AD. The Kama Sutra contains an entire chapter on the art of kissing.
- 0-500 AD. The Romans, a kiss-crazy people, spread the practice across their empire.
- 1872. Charles Darwin hypothesizes that kissing is an innate urge all humans share.

We asked: What was your worst kiss?

"After a bag of nacho-cheese Doritos. Full-on tongue. That was terrible."
Rachel Fine, 27, master's student/bartender

"My first spin-the-bottle in Grade 7. I had never French kissed. He came at me tongue out."
Melanie Spence, 28, unemployed

"Truth-or-dare in high school. It was one of those friends you just don't want to kiss."
Natisha Cohen, 27, instructor

"It involved a lot of teeth, which is never good."
Shane Adamczak, 29, performer

"In high school with this really dumb guy. I don't know why I was with him."
Natalie Bartlett, 27, registered nurse

"I've never had one. Kisses are great."
Evan Thompson, 49, philosophy teacher

Canada not helping jailed citizen in China: Wife

Dissent. Refugee who spoke against human rights abuses in China serving life in prison

The wife of a Canadian citizen who is serving a life sentence in China for speaking out on behalf of the country's Uighur minority says the Canadian government has all but forgotten about him.

Kamila Telendibaeva says her husband, Huseyin Celil, a refugee from China's troubled Xinjiang region, has been punished because he spoke out about the democratic and religious rights for the Muslim minority group.

Human rights activists say Beijing considers anyone in the Uighur community who attempts to promote their culture or religious values, or who speaks out about greater autonomy for the Uighur people, a terrorist.

Quoted

"They have not been willing to budge off that position although we continue to press them."

Dian Ablonczy, junior foreign affairs minister, on the Chinese government's refusal to recognize Canada's right to consular access to an imprisoned citizen

Celil escaped from China in 1994 when the terrorism charges first surfaced.

In 2006, while visiting his wife's family in Uzbekistan, Celil was detained by Uzbek police and deported to China without the consent of the Canadian government.

No. Korean-reunification activist arrested after three-month stint in North

Souring ties

The Korean Peninsula has remained in a state of war since a truce ended three years of fighting in 1953.

- After a decade of warming ties, relations have soured since a new conservative administration took office in Seoul in 2008.

A South Korean activist was arrested as soon as he set foot on home soil Thursday, resisting police in a stunt of defiance after an unapproved, three-month stay in the North.

Turning around to face crowds of cheering North Koreans before stepping over the line, No Su-hui raised his arms and shouted "Long live reunification," a white unified-Korea flag in his right hand and a bouquet of flowers in his left. Behind him on the South Korean side, soldiers stood in taekwondo poses, their eyes concealed behind dark sunglasses.

The stunt by No, 68, was designed to draw attention to the division of the Korean Peninsula. He had gone to Pyongyang from China in March even though South Koreans are prohibited from travelling to North Korea without government approval.

"The conservative forces are saying they will put me on trial, but I will judge them," No said. "Please watch and see what will happen."

No, who is vice-chairman of South Korea's Pan-Alliance for Korea's Reunification, was dressed in a grey suit and white tie, with a pin of unified Korea on his jacket. His pointed decision to cross back through the truce village of Panmunjom was a highly symbolic move to draw attention to his cause. Most tourists must enter and exit North Korea via China.

No, who went to Pyongyang to pay his respects to Kim on the 100th day after his death, visited major tourist sites and met with North Korean officials during his visit, North Korea's official Korean Central News Agency said.

Leaked emails reveal Syrian-Italian ties

WikiLeaks. Material is embarrassing to both Syria and Syria's opponents: Assange

The first batch of 2.4 million emails from Syria being released by the whistleblowing WikiLeaks reveals alleged high-level deals by an international arms and telecom supplier to equip the regime.

The 16-month uprising in Syria against the government of President Bashar Assad has killed at least 10,000 people, according to United Nations figures.

Finmeccanica "sold to Syria ... the Tetra system, a communications network that allows conversations and transmission of data," L'Espresso newspaper reported Thursday. Finmeccanica is 30 per cent owned by the Italian government.

The $50-million system allowed interception-proof encrypted communications that could connect to any vehicle, including helicopters.

Part of the export, the report said, "must be authorized by the Italian government." The contract, it said, dates back to 2008 and reveals "the relationship with the Italian parent (company) for the Syrian program has been intense and continuous."

Finmeccanica, a supplier to the U.S. Defense Department, also sold its technology to the Iranian Interior Ministry in 2007, the Spanish publication Publico.ex reported.

The Finmeccanica story is the first of many to come "over the months and years" from the email cache, WikiLeaks' Sarah Harrison told journalists at London's Frontline Club Thursday.

The WikiLeaks database comprises 2,434,899 emails from 680 domains, the site said. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Argentina

Junta dictator gets 50 years in prison

Former Argentine dictator Jorge Rafael Videla was convicted and sentenced to 50 years Thursday for executing a systematic plan to steal babies from prisoners who were kidnapped, tortured and killed during the military junta's war on leftist dissenters three decades ago.

The baby thefts set Argentina's 1976-1983 military junta apart from all the others that ruled in Latin America at the time. Videla and the rest of the junta were determined to remove any trace of the armed leftist guerrilla movement that they felt threatened the country's future. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Air France. Crash investigation cites faulty equipment, pilot mistakes

A combination of faulty sensors and mistakes by inadequately trained pilots caused an Air France jet to plunge into the Atlantic Ocean in 2009, killing all 228 people aboard in the airline's deadliest ever crash, French investigators with the Bureau for Investigations and Analysis said Thursday.

They are urging better instruction for pilots on flying manually at high altitudes and stricter plane-certification rules after a three-year investigation.

Airbus, the plane's manufacturer, said in a statement that it is working to improve speed sensors and making other efforts to avoid future accidents.

Air France insisted the pilots "acted in line with the information provided by the cockpit instruments and systems.... The reading of the various data did not enable them to apply the appropriate action."

A separate French judicial investigation is still underway, and Air France and Airbus have been handed preliminary manslaughter charges.

The bureau's analysis lists a combination of "human and technical factors" behind the crash. The plane flying from Rio de Janeiro to Paris slammed into the sea during a nighttime thunderstorm on June 1, 2009.

WestJet reports growth in June

WestJet Airlines said its flights had fewer empty seats in June compared with a year ago as the airline also increased capacity.

Calgary-based WestJet reported Thursday a load factor — the proportion of seats filled on its flights — of 79 per cent for June, up from 75.7 per cent in June 2011 when Air Canada suffered a brief strike by its customer service agents. The increase came as passenger traffic climbed 6.7 per cent from the same time last year, while capacity increased 2.3 per cent.

"Advanced bookings for July and August remain strong," WestJet CEO Gregg Saretsky said in a statement.

Meanwhile, regional carrier Porter Airlines reported a load factor of 62 per cent for June, down from 64.6 per cent a year ago. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Cabinet upholds competition between phone companies

Prime Minister Stephen Harper's cabinet has upheld a CRTC ruling that allows big telephone companies to compete against smaller ones in rural areas.

Smaller phone companies from Ontario, Quebec and B.C. petitioned cabinet to overturn a May 2011 decision by Canada's telecom regulator to allow competition in some rural and remote parts of the country. Those areas had been protected from competition by regulations that allowed for only one service provider.

Those representing small independent telephone companies had argued the CRTC ruling meant the big companies would be free to offer telephone services to homes passed by their cable networks, while ignoring potential customers in remote areas. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Appetite to hire down since 2011

Survey. 40 per cent of hiring managers planning to bring on new full-timers in second half of 2012

A new survey suggests fewer Canadian employers expect to add more permanent full-time jobs in the second half of 2012 than they did in last year's poll.

The Harris Interactive survey found that 40 per cent of hiring managers said they were planning to hire new permanent, full-time employees by the end of the year, compared with 43 per cent in the second half of 2011.

The countrywide survey was conducted between May 14 and June 4 on behalf of website CareerBuilder Canada.

Results from among 292 hiring managers and human-resource professionals contacted found that in addition to the 40 per cent who expected to add high full-time employees, 22 per cent planned to add part-time workers and 26 per cent contract or temporary employees. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Employer concern

The competition for talent was also reflected in employer responses, with 44 per cent acknowledging they were concerned about losing valued workers.

Breakdown

The survey found the major fields in which businesses plan to hire first are those directly impacting and supporting revenue and innovation.

- These include information technology (21 per cent), customer service (21 per cent) administrative (21 per cent), sales (15 per cent), accounting/finance (12 per cent), business development (eight per cent) and marketing (eight per cent).

Sluggish economy slows spending in June

Tim Hortons. Coffee chain to introduce free wireless internet at 2,000 locations

Double-double addicts will soon have another reason to stop into one of the thousands of Tim Hortons outlets across the country.

The coffee-and-doughnut chain announced Thursday that it is working to roll out free wireless Internet to more than 2,000 locations. It expects 90 per cent of its so-called "traditional" outlets across Canada will offer free Wi-Fi by September.

The plan does not include its non-traditional outlets, including kiosks, gas stations and hospital locations.

The service is being provided through a partnership with Bell. THE CANADIAN PRESS

MARRIAGE: IMPOSSIBLE

THE LIST
Neil Morton
Metro

1 Tom Cruise at 50. It's been only seven years since the Scientologist jumped on Oprah's couch to profess his love for Katie Holmes. Now, with a pending divorce (Katie apparently wants to protect her daughter Suri from being indoctrinated into Scientology), things are not looking up for Cruise, who turned 50 this week. Eyes Wide Shut.

2 Anderson Cooper. The CNN anchor came out of the closet this week. "The fact is, I'm gay, always have been, always will be, and I couldn't be any more happy, comfortable with myself, and proud," he wrote in an email published on his friend Andrew Sullivan's blog. Cooper decided he was doing more harm than good by not coming out. Kudos.

3 Spain. The football juggernaut staked its claim to being one of the best national sides in history by winning a record third straight major title, routing Italy 4-0 in the Euro 2012 final. What Italy did show is they have one of the more dynamic and stylin' young strikers in football — Mario (Super Mario) Balotelli.

4 Good Afternoon America. Good Morning America is spinning off into a nine-week summer-afternoon series called Good Afternoon America. It launches on Monday, and, if ratings go well and the show continues in the fall, could we see a Good Night America spinoff? Nah, that name is too ominous.

5 Steve Nash. Canada was having Steve Nash fever, with basketball fans across the country salivating at the prospect of the star signing with the Toronto Raptors. But it was all just a Hollywood dream with no happy ending, as Nash instead went to the L.A. Lakers, where he will play with Kobe. And win a title.

6 Carly Rae Jepsen. The pop sensation came to Peterborough, Ont., Wednesday, performing to one of the largest crowds in the history of the city's Little Lake Musicfest. She had the fans in the palms of her hands, finishing the night with them singing along to her summer hit Call Me Maybe. I was there with my daughters, and, shh, was singing right along.

7 London calling. Jessica Zelinka announced herself as possibly being Canada's best female athlete by winning the 100-metre hurdles shortly after breaking her own Canadian record in the heptathlon. She tweeted about her next step: a berth in the Summer Olympics. "@JessicaZelinka: Crashing after riding the high all week. Thanks for sharing this crazy journey with me. London here we come!!"

8 Chris Brown. The bad rapper wannabe released a new verse on a remixed track, I Don't Like, ripping his adversary Drake for their nightclub brawl in June. Brown slams Drake for "throwin' bottles" while he himself is "throwin' models." This stupid boy fight over Rihanna has evolved into the dumbest hip-hop beef in music history.

9 Jose Bautista. The slugger earned his third straight all-star berth when Major League Baseball announced its starting lineups for next week's game in Kansas City. Bautista, who set a Blue Jays record with 14 homers in the month of June, is the silver lining on a Jays team that is going downhill fast with all their injured starting pitchers.

10 Doug Pitt. Brad Pitt's little brother Doug stars in a rather quirky commercial that went viral for Virgin Mobile Australia. In the ad, titled, "Meet Doug Pitt, the second most famous Pitt in his family," we're given a tour by Doug inside his middle-class home and lifestyle. No, Angelina Jolie's brother James Haven does not make a cameo.

11 Train. The band is on a big U.S. tour but is making two Canadian stops next week, one in Montreal (July 10) and the next night in Toronto. So if you're proposing to your girlfriend this summer, the perfect time to do it is with a flash mob at their concert when they're singing Marry Me.

12 Detroit zombie theme park. A Detroit company, Z World Detroit LLC., wants to turn one of the city's abandoned neighbourhoods into a massive zombie theme park. Now there's sure to be a lot of political red tape, but it's definitely one of the more creative solutions proposed to helping turn Detroit's economy around — and a radical rethinking of urban redevelopment.

Raising awareness of euthanized dogs

In this April photo, Taiwanese photographer Tou Chih-kang tries to make a portrait of a puppy in the final moments of its life before the animal was put down by lethal injection at a shelter in Taoyuan, northern Taiwan.

Chih-kang has been visiting dog shelters for two years now, making human-like portraits that give a sense of dignity and esteem to some 400 canines, in hopes of educating the public on the proper care of pets.

Activists say that some 70 per cent of dogs in Taiwanese shelters are killed after a 12-day waiting period.

The pictures are Tou Chih-kang's way of trying to encourage responsibility among Taiwanese dog owners, who abandon their pets when they tire of them.

His photos will be exhibited in a full-scale show in southern Taiwan next month. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Can the leads of Savages hold their own with the scenery? HANDOUT

Reel Guys

RICHARD CROUSE AND MARK BRESLIN

Stone's Savages — flamboyant and fun

Standard drug flick. Savages ticks each requisite off the list — a California cutie, a threesome and Benicio Del Toro as a Mexican bad guy

Richard: Mark, I knew I was in for an over-the-top Oliver Stone movie from Savages' opening minutes. The "wargasm" reference was my first clue and by the time Benicio Del Toro literally twirled his moustache like a pantomime baddie, I knew this wasn't the same director who gave us W and World Trade Center, this is Stone in Natural Born Killers mode. It's wild, but I found it more flamboyant than fun. You?

Mark: Well, Richard, let's see ... guns, drugs, threesomes; sounds like hanging out with Sam Kinison in the '80s. Actually, I think this is Stone's best picture since Reagan was President. He's working viscerally here and you can feel everything: the coastal languors of Laguna Beach, the scuzziness of Mexican border towns, Blake Lively's silken suntan. For a violent popcorn movie, I found it pretty sensual. Did you think the leads held their own with the scenery?

RC: It's definitely a good-looking movie from the stars to the scenery, but I thought the cast was really interesting as well as pretty. Johnson and Kitsch are good and evil, flip sides of the same coin, Lively isn't as sprightly as her name might suggest, but she does do damaged quite well. I also enjoyed Travolta, Hayek and Del Toro chewing the scenery but I felt it hard to care about any of them. They're all rather despicable, and I found myself hoping they'd all end up in a Mexican standoff.

Synopsis

Aaron Johnson and Taylor Kitsch are Ben and Chon, entrepreneurs, drug dealers and two thirds of a love triangle with California cutie Ophelia (Blake Lively). They sell a potent strain of legal medical grade marijuana but also siphon off some for illicit practice and profit, which earns the attention of a Mexican Baja drug Cartel run by Elena (Salma Hayek). She'll do anything to create a "joint" venture, including kidnapping their shared paramour.

- Richard: ●●○○○
- Mark: ●●●●○

MB: Well, it is a drug movie after all, so you know there will be double-crosses galore. I think you're supposed to care about the Blake Lively character, as the innocent of the bunch, but she's a bit vapid to really identify with. Del Toro makes, as usual, a great baddie, although Travolta stole the show for me with his corrupt DEA agent. But you'd think for a guy on the take, he'd have a much better haircut.

RC: Ha! It's a haircut almost as bad as the ending. No spoilers ... but it felt like a cheat.

MB: The ending wants to have its pot brownie and eat it too, but I appreciated the attempt to play with the narrative and our expectations. For me, it was flamboyant and fun.

SCENE

Scene in brief

Spy style

If there's one thing James Bond has taught us, it's that behind every great spy is a great tailor. A new exhibition at London's Barbican Centre explores the style of the suave secret agent, displaying costumes, props, set pieces and design drawings from half a century of 007 films. Assembled with help from the films' producers, the exhibition includes the spy's tuxedos, Bond girl ballgowns and villains' vestments, as well as a selection of props, gadgets and sketches of the films' exotic sets. It pays tribute to the British, European and American craftspeople and designers who have created the look of the quintessentially British icon. "Designing 007" opens Friday and runs to Sept. 5. It will then tour internationally, opening at the TIFF Bell Lightbox in Toronto in October.

Safety Not Guaranteed

Forget flux capacitors. Film is more an emotional trip than a time travelling one

STEVE GOW
scene@metronews.ca

Safety Not Guaranteed opens next Friday. HANDOUT

Mark Duplass is perhaps Hollywood's unlikeliest rising star.

Not only has he and his co-directing brother Jay established a reputation for making quirky award-winning mumblecore comedies like The Puffy Chair, but the filmmaker is now becoming a highly sought-after actor — beginning with Safety Not Guaranteed (opening next Friday).

"It's a challenge because I've played quite a few characters which are thinly-veiled versions of myself to a certain degree and this guy is nothing like me," said Duplass about his role as a real-life loner trying to enlist someone to assist him to travel through time.

"This guy is a true sincere believer…he's almost some bizarrely sad wrecked version of Marty McFly and I just loved seeing a person like that trying to find love and greatness."

Not surprisingly, director Colin Treverrow's comedy does comply with corresponding themes to a Duplass Brothers movie such as Cyrus — an argument that Safety's scarcity of special effects for flourishing character development only affirms.

"This movie is less about the lasers and flux capacitors of time travel and much more about the reasons emotionally why someone would want to time travel which, for me, is this need to eject from your station in life and find something better."

- Mark Duplass on indie vs Hollywood films. "I loved how John Cassavetes made a bunch of money as an actor then would go spend it making these weird movies," he says.

Drama

In the Family

Director. Patrick Wang

Stars. Patrick Wang, Trevor St. John, Sebastian Banes

Writer/director/producer Patrick Wang also stars in In the Family, his subtle but incredibly moving first feature film. Cody (St. John) and Joey (Wang) have raised Cody's biological son, Chip (Banes), together since he was a baby. But when Cody is killed in a car accident, Joey learns that Cody's six-year-old will names Cody's sister as Chip's legal guardian. In the Family follows Joey as he attempts to regain custody of his son and as he learns what it really means to be "family."

Darling Companion

Director. Lawrence Kasdan

Stars. Diane Keaton, Kevin Kline, Ayelet Zurer

Beth (Keaton) is devastated when her husband Joseph (Kline) loses her beloved dog. After an unsuccessful initial search, Beth and her search party do what all desperate dog-lovers do: they follow the advice of the gypsy caretaker who has "visions" of the dog's whereabouts. Though it provided a few laughs, the subplot was ultimately unnecessary, considering the film is more about fostering relationships.

Ballet lovers dancing for joy as their beloved art hits the mainstream

Natalie Portman won plenty of critical praise for her role in Black Swan. HANDOUT

Tutu trend. What started with the film Black Swan has turned into a series of TV shows and sold-out ballet performances

"I'm really digging it," says Ronnie Underwood, a buff, tattooed motorcycle enthusiast, auto racer and former football player who also happens to be a ballet dancer.

Oh, and a reality show star. Underwood, 30, is one of the main characters on Breaking Pointe, the CW series about the lives and loves, trials and tribulations of the dancers at Ballet West, a highly regarded company in Salt Lake City.

The season comes to a finale next week, and suspense is high: Will Ronnie, Rex, Christiana and Allison be ready for their close-up? Or will opening-night jitters, not to mention relationship issues, derail their hard work? But we digress. What Underwood is "digging" is the broader fact that ballet, often relegated to a dusty, forgotten shelf in the current culture, seems to be having its moment in the sun.

Besides Breaking Pointe, there's the ABC Family show Bunheads, starring the Tony-winning actress Sutton Foster (the title is dance-speak for ballerinas, a reference to their neatly coiled hairdos). And hugely popular dance-competition shows like Dancing with the Stars have featured guest turns by ballet dancers like Jose Manuel Carreno, recently retired from American Ballet Theatre, and the ballerina Tiler Peck of New York City Ballet.

There's also a popular documentary film garnering praise, First Position, which tracks young dancers in a global competition. But it's a much more famous 2010 film that gets much of the credit for starting the ballet mini-craze: Darren Aronofsky's cool and edgy Black Swan, which starred Natalie Portman and brought a whole new vibe to that stuffy classic, Swan Lake.

"Black Swan really did bring ballet into the mainstream pop culture consciousness in a way it hadn't been for a while — and that was great for us in the ballet world," says Rob Daniels, managing director at New York City Ballet. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Trend

Black Swan makes a flap

New York City Ballet managing director Rob Daniels says the company sold out its runs of Swan Lake for two seasons after the film.

"And it definitely felt the houses were younger — that young people were coming who'd seen the film and were curious about ballet," Daniels says.

Not that there was any lasting economic boon for NYCB or other ballet companies — like arts institutions, dance companies have had to struggle in a harsh economy.

But those in the dance world say, give it time — they're simply buoyed by the thought that more people may come to know and appreciate the art of ballet. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Miranda Kerr's labour of love a little tougher than expected

Victoria's Secret Angel Miranda Kerr, wife of Orlando Bloom, knew she wanted to have their baby without drugs; she gave birth to son Flynn Christopher back in January. "I had made a decision that I wanted to do it [naturally]," she says in the August issue of Harper's Bazaar UK.

"It was a long, arduous and difficult labour," she continued, "but Orlando was with me the whole time supporting and guiding me through it. I could not have done it without him."

Was TomKat marriage running on Cruise control?

What started as a rather titillating celebrity divorce is now devolving into a sadly familiar one. Tom Cruise has "absolutely no contact with Katie," according to website TMZ, with Cruise talking only to daughter Suri, 6, on the phone, once a day.

Things are "really bitter now," the source tells the site, with Katie "using Suri as a weapon." Meanwhile, photographers caught Holmes laughing at an ice cream parlor with Suri as bodyguards stood on watch.

"He has been Tom Cruise for 30 years," she told Elle magazine, in their just-released issue, which may have offered clues about the divorce to come.

"I know who I am and where I am and where I want to go, so I want to focus on that. I definitely feel much more comfortable in my own skin. I feel sexier," she continued. "I'm starting to come into my own. It's like a new phase."

With Cruise in the news, the paps are suddenly interested in Nicole Kidman, his ex, again.

They caught her having — gasp! — dinner with her husband, country singer Keith Urban, at a Florida restaurant, according to Us Magazine. The 45-year-old divorced Cruise in 2001, after an 11-year marriage.

Newlywed Matthew McConaughey adding to the family

Matthew McConaughey and his wife Camila aren't just newlyweds, they're also expecting.

McConaughey's representative confirmed that his wife is pregnant with the couple's third child. Both the actor and his bride tweeted the news on Wednesday.

"Happy birthday America, more good news, Camila and I are expecting our 3rd child," the actor wrote, "God bless, just keep livin'."

Claire Danes expecting first child with husband Hugh Dancy

Claire Danes

Claire Danes has some busy months ahead: Not only is her hit TV series Homeland returning for its second season in September, but she's pregnant as well. Danes' rep, Jodi Gottlieb, confirms the actress is expecting her first child with husband Hugh Dancy.

The 33-year-old Danes and 37-year-old Dancy met on the set of the film Evening and were married in 2009 in France.

The actress first became famous as a teenager on the television drama My So Called Life, for which she won a Golden Globe award. The show was cancelled after its first season but developed a cult following.

The Bourne realtor?

Jeremy Renner

Actor Jeremy Renner, star of the fourth film in the Bourne series, the upcoming Bourne Legacy, has a side gig flipping houses in Los Angeles, according to an interview in the new issue of Esquire magazine.

He's renovated more than 15 homes since 2002, reports the magazine, including a mansion he may be about to list for US $25 million.

"I'm very lucky," Renner told the magazine. "I could have pretty easily been driving a forklift."

Cookbook

Pushing the vegetarian envelope

A new vegetarian cookbook by two Montreal chefs is pushing the envelope by offering readers dishes that are both classic and internationally inspired.

"From a chef's point of view, it is more important to take a quality product such as locally grown fresh vegetables and use good techniques so that you can have a wonderful result," says Igor Brotto.

He has co-authored The Vegetarian Kitchen Table Cookbook with Olivier Guiriec (Robert Rose, $27.95, paperback).

Among the 275 recipes there are Red Curry Tofu with Shiitake Mushrooms and Bamboo Shoots, Sun-dried Tomato, Brie and Arugula Wraps and Fig and Almond Tart.

As classical chefs used to working with lobster, filet mignon and foie gras, Brotto says he enjoys the chance to relegate the meat to the background to allow the vegetable part of the dish to shine up front on the plate.

Grilled Dessert Pizza. Since you'll be barbecuing this weekend anyway, why not get creative?

For a backyard get-together, dessert has got to be easy and easy going.

And since you're probably making the rest of your meal on the grill anyway, why not use it to prep dessert, too?

This dessert pizza is incredibly quick and versatile. Top it with whatever sweet treats you like, or consider making individual ones and having a dessert pizza bar so people can select their own toppings.

Be sure to let the pizza dough rest at room temperature for about 30 minutes before trying to roll it out. Otherwise, it will be too stiff to work with and will resist stretching.

1. Heat a grill to medium-high.

2. Scatter half of the sugar on a counter top. Place the pizza dough over the sugar and roll out into the sugar. Sprinkle the top of the dough with the remaining sugar, then roll again to press the sugar into the top. You should have a rough circle about 12 inches in diameter.

3. Transfer the dough to a baking sheet, then head out to the grill.

4. Use an oil-soaked paper towel held with tongs to oil the grill grates.

5. Transfer pizza dough directly onto the grates. Cook for 3 minutes per side, or until cooked and lightly browned.

6. Return the crust to the baking sheet and immediately sprinkle the chocolate bits over the top. Wait 1 minute to allow the chocolate to melt, then use a butter knife or silicone spatula to spread the melted chocolate evenly over the crust. Sprinkle with the chopped strawberries and the flaked coconut. Enjoy warm.

Ingredients

- 1/4 cup turbinado or demerara sugar, divided
- 16-oz ball refrigerated pizza dough
- Canola or vegetable oil
- 1/2 cup semisweet chocolate bits
- 1 1/2 cups chopped fresh strawberries
- 3/4 cup flaked coconut

Liquid Assets

Sip your way back to the origins of wine

LIQUID ASSETS
Peter Rockwell
@therealwineguy
peterrockwell@eastlink.ca

Forget about the fashion, music and auto industries. None are driven by trends more aggressively than the booze business.

While some subsegments virtually re-invent themselves every year, others simply go back to the future to find the next big thing.

The wine world spins like a top on this axis. Need proof? Though floundering for years, the juice from France and Italy is back on top again.

As consumers sip their way back to the origins of wine making, some polarizing flavour profiles are reaching out and grabbing the palates of wine lovers with a grip that even Iron Man would envy.

The hottest "what the heck" wine that has found fame is white moscato. Its romantic sounding name is actually the Italian translation of muscat — one of the oldest families of grapes in the world.

International winemakers have borrowed the term with E & J Gallo's Barefoot Moscato ($9.95 - $11.99) a prime example of the style's balance of easy-drinking, plush, white fruit sweetness and low alcohol.

Well chilled, moscato makes for a refreshing warm weather sipper and a fine match with fresh fruit, most cheeses and sugary desserts. PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS THE COUNTRY. SOME PRODUCTS MAY NOT BE AVAILABLE IN ALL PROVINCES.

Strawberry Jiggle Trifle. Cross gelatin mould with strawberry shortcake

1. Coat a 9-by-13-inch baking pan with cooking spray, line with plastic wrap, leaving excess wrap overhanging outside the short ends of the pan.

2. In bowl, stir gelatin, sugar and cold water. Let sit 5 minutes. Pour boiling water into bowl and stir to dissolve. Add juice concentrate and stir. Pour into prepared pan and refrigerate for 3 hours, or until firm.

3. When the gelatin is firm, use the plastic wrap to lift it out of the pan and overturn it onto a cutting board. Discard the plastic wrap, then cut the sheet of gelatin into 3/4-inch cubes. Set aside.

4. Using electric mixer, beat cream and powdered sugar until semi-firm peaks form.

5. In a trifle dish or a deep glass bowl, place a layer of the angel food cake cubes. Top with a layer of the strawberries, then the whipped cream, and finally the cubed gelatin. Repeat this layering process until you've used all the ingredients. Refrigerate until ready to serve.

Ingredients

- 4 envelopes (1 oz) unflavoured gelatin (each box contains 4 envelopes)
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 cup cold water
- 1 cup boiling water
- 12-oz can frozen berry blend juice concentrate, thawed
- 2 cups heavy cream
- 1/4 cup powdered sugar
- 2 lbs fresh strawberries, quartered
- 13-oz angel food cake, cut into cubes

Serena Williams powers into final

Tennis. Four-time Wimbledon champion hits record 24 aces

Serena Williams wins with so much more than serving, of course.

Her groundstrokes are intimidating. Her superb speed and anticipation fuel unparalleled court-covering defence. Her returns are outstanding.

When that serve is on-target, though, it sure is something special, quite possibly the greatest in the history of women's tennis.

Lashing a tournament-record 24 aces at up to 120 mph, and doing plenty of other things well, too, four-time Wimbledon champion Williams overpowered No. 2-seeded Victoria Azarenka of Belarus 6-3, 7-6 (6) Thursday to reach her seventh final at the All England Club.

"Isn't that something?" said Williams' father, Richard, after watching his daughter win on Centre Court. "She was really trying, you know?"

On Saturday, the 30-year-old Williams will try to become the first woman at least that age to win a major tournament since Martina Navratilova, who was 33 when she won Wimbledon in 1990.

"The older I get, the better I serve, I feel," Williams said. "I don't know how it got better. I really don't know. It's not like I go home and I work on baskets and baskets of serves. Maybe it's a natural shot for me."

Her next opponent will be No. 3 Agnieszka Radwanska of Poland, who reached her first Grand Slam final at age 23 by playing steady as can be during a 6-3, 6-4 victory over No. 8 Angelique Kerber of Germany.

"After a couple of games, I just relaxed a little bit," said Radwanska, who made only six unforced errors, one in the second set. "I was really focusing on every point."

Williams won 20 of her 24 service points in the first set, including 17 in a row during one stretch.

And this performance didn't come against a slouch: Azarenka won the Australian Open in January as part of a 26-0 start to this season, was playing in her third semifinal in the past five major tournaments, and would have returned to No. 1 in the rankings if she had managed to beat Williams.

Sister power

A couple of hours after reaching her seventh Wimbledon final, Serena Williams returned to Centre Court with sister Venus to secure a spot in the semifinals of the doubles tournament.

- The Williams sisters routed Raquel Kops-Jones and Abigail Spears 6-1, 6-1 in less than hour Thursday.

Greipel grabs a second Tour win

In yet another crash-marred finish, Andre Greipel of Germany led a frenzied bunch sprint to win the fifth stage of the Tour de France on Thursday for his second straight stage victory.

Fabian Cancellara retained the yellow jersey for a sixth straight day after the mostly flat 196.5-kilometre trek from Rouen to Saint-Quentin was almost tailor-made for sprinters except for a slight uphill near the end.

The Tour's doping demons returned to cast a shadow. A Dutch newspaper report said former teammates of Lance Armstrong cut a deal with U.S. anti-doping officials for their testimony in a case against Armstrong.

'Pit bull' guard in play as Plan B for Raptors

Houston Rockets guard Kyle Lowry reacts during a game against the Portland Trail Blazers in Portland, Ore., in April. DON RYAN/THE CANADIAN PRESS

One of the first NBA sources to be asked about Kyle Lowry called him a "pit bull."

One of the next couple of talent evaluators said he's as competitive as anyone in the league.

Somewhere, coach Dwane Casey must be smiling and Raptors general manager Bryan Colangelo has to be quite happy with his so-called Plan B.

Moving with quickness to ease the pain of a Steve Nash snub, the Raptors reached an agreement in principle Thursday to acquire Lowry from the Houston Rockets once the NBA's moratorium on player movement is lifted July 11.

The Raptors will give up a lightly protected first-round pick once over the next five years along with seldom-used swingman Gary Forbes for the 26-year-old point guard entering his seventh NBA season in the fall.

The 6-foot Lowry averaged 14.3 points and 6.6 assists with the Rockets last season, missing the last quarter of the season with an infection.

No one connected with the Raptors could officially comment — or even acknowledge — the transaction.

But it has been no secret that Lowry has been on Toronto's radar for some time.

Nash's choice

Steve Nash chose the Los Angeles Lakers because they're close to his children and to NBA title contention.

- On ESPN radio Thursday, The 38-year-old Canadian said he spoke to Kobe Bryant by phone Monday to confirm the Lakers star wants to work together.
- Bryant told Nash they would be a perfect fit in the Lakers' backcourt.

Horoscope

Aries | March 21 - April 20. A family feud is in the cards today but now that you know that, you can limit the chances of a serious falling-out by watching what you say.

Taurus | April 21 - May 21. No matter how irritating someone may be, you must not let them get under your skin. Be on the move as much as possible today.

Gemini | May 22 - June 20. What happens today will only be important if you choose to let it be important. That applies especially to money matters and business negotiations.

Cancer | June 21 - July 22. You will be both assertive and ambitious today, which could cause problems if others get the impression that you care for nothing but your own glory. Tone it down a bit.

Leo | July 23 - Aug. 22. You have something to say. It's something you think is important, but you have got to accept that, in saying it, you may upset a few people.

Virgo | Aug. 23 - Sept. 22. You may wonder why you have been singled out for so much good fortune, but in the greater scheme of things, nothing happens without a reason. Enjoy what you get today.

Libra | Sept. 23 - Oct. 22. You have what it takes to compete at the highest level, so don't let fear of failure hold you back. Get out there into the world and show creativity.

Scorpio | Oct. 23 - Nov. 21. If you are the kind of Scorpio who loves to travel, you could find yourself a long way from home over the next 24 hours. Don't worry about how you are going to get back.

Sagittarius | Nov. 22 - Dec. 21. You will have energy to spare over the next 24 hours, but it is your Sagittarian enthusiasm that will lead to success. Focus on what you are good at and on what you enjoy.

Capricorn | Dec. 22 - Jan 20. You're under a lot of pressure and because the pressure comes mainly from partners and colleagues, you could fall out with someone today.

Aquarius | Jan. 21 - Feb 18. You can achieve some remarkable things over the next few days, so forget about the easy life and push yourself harder than ever before.

Pisces | Feb. 19 - March 20. You've had your fill of talk and you've had your fill of trying to plan things out in great detail — all you want to do is get busy on a project that you believe in. SALLY BROMPTON
